WHAT HAMPTON IS DOING.

The so-called impracticables who oppose President Hayes's policy are not to be left without some cause of complaint, if Wade Hampton and his friends are correctly reported. A dispatch from Columbia says that true bills of indictment have been found by the U. S. Grand Jury, against 200 of the Ellerton rioters. "The evidence in the Ellerton cases," says a dispatch to the New York Times, "clearly showed that the Hamburg massacre was the first act in a political conspiracy to carry the State by violence, and that Ellerton was the next step." Also we are informed that the District Attorney says with bitter irony that with the evidence already in his possession he would be willing to go before a jury composed of Northern Democrats. It is to these indictments that reference is made in the following dispatch which is dated Columbia, S. C., April 28:

Strong efforts are being made to secure the aid of the President to stop the prosecution of those engaged in the Ellerton and Hamburg massacres. Resolutions are now before the Senate charging that the prosecution is a political one, and that the President should stop it in furtherance of his policy of conciliation.

All prosecutions for crimes committed in furtherance of the conspiracy to wrench their rights from the colored people and drive away the Republicans from exercising any power or influence in the State are "political" in the eyes of Mr. Hayes's new found friends. In the Times Columbia special, above referred to, we are further informed of some matters which give the President's critics something to talk about. Here is what we refer to:

No other Republicans have been seated in the House. Lee, member from Chester, has been excluded on the charge that he was a Postmaster when elected. He was not notified to appear before the committee. He could have proved his resignation was accepted before the election. The highest Democratic candidate was seated on the Cronin plan. Thus far no white man from the Republican ranks has been seated.

Possibly some of the commercial supporters of the administration will think that The era of good feeling is being purchased at too heavy a price when they are informed that "Hampton's message is regarded as the first step toward repudiating the bonded and floating debt of the State." The following dispatch would also seem to indicate that Hampton was going to help the Radicals to a reinforcement of their opinions concerning the Matthewsian policy:

Chicago, April 27.—A Journal Washington special says: The fact that Governor Hampton in his message to the Legislature of South Carolina yesterday, made no reference to the President or the National Government is much talked about in political circles, and there are various speculations as to his motives. To-day General Banks expressed great surprise at the omission, and thought it showed a painful lack of appreciation for what President Hayes has done for the Democratic party in South Carolina. "As Hampton was made Governor," said Banks, "by order of the President, and not by the votes of the majority of the people of South Carolina, he should have taken the first official opportunity to thank the President and Administration for their action. Hampton's failure to do this is significant, and indicates clearly that the troubles in South Carolina are not in reality over, and that Hampton's promises will not be kept."

There are those who affect to be amused at the opposition of certain Republicans to the policy of President Hayes's Administration. The recalcitrants are called soreheads and small rebels, impracticables and destructives, and so on. There is an effort to make this opposition seem but the outcry of a few baffled radicals, hot with impotent rage and comfortless disappointment. We believe that the tempest of indignant disfavor which will set toward the Administration will be the most terrific political storm this country has ever seen since the attempted impeachment of Andrew Johnson. We do not believe that any Republican Senator or Representative can with safety to his future, support the Administration, six months hence, so fierce will be the tempest of Northern scorn. We are predicating what we say upon a belief in the self-respect and courage of the North. A Solid South will breed a Solid North if we do not overestimate the manhood of Northern States. The Sun indicates in the following the temper of the North.

Any attack on the Administration, no matter who may lead it, or what may be the motive, will find a sympathetic response in the heart of the great body of sturdy and working Republicans. They point to the Cabinet as a proof of Hayes's treachery at the start; to his so-called Southern policy, as confirmation of the charge; and to the civil service sham, by which the patronage of the Government is to be perpetuated in the hands of officeholders notoriously corrupt and convicted of all manner of jobbery, as an insult to the name of reform, and a base desertion of the men who have borne the brunt of every campaign since the party was organized. It is not likely to be a sham war.

SMALLPOX TEA.—The Silver State does not increase the value of a cargo of tea when it comments as follows:

A special train consisting of nineteen cars loaded of tea passed through to-day. The tea was brought from China in the smallpox infected steamer Alaska, now quarantined at San Francisco. The vessel was fumigated so as to prevent the spread of the disease by sending her cargo through the country.

LATEST NEWS ITEMS.

"We do not want to make conquests, but to defend our brethren oppressed for Christ's sake" says the Grand Duke Nicholas in an address to his troops. He will require severe military discipline and nothing will be taken from the inhabitants of Roumania without payment.

Ex-Governor Noyes of Ohio has been appointed Minister to France, vice Washburne recalled. The State of Rutherford's birth is fast being floated not only all over the United States but many parts of the Continent of Europe, as well.

It is held by the Western Powers of Europe that their efforts made to preserve the peace are all that the Treaty of Paris demands of them. They make answer to this effect in reply to the Sublime Porte.

Mr. Trenor W. Park has been acquitted of the charge of fraud preferred against him by the English purchasers of the Emma mine. He was heartily congratulated by all present at the rendering of the verdict.

The Turks are reported as having defeated with great loss the Russians at Batoum. The former were under command of Hannon Pasha and the Russians were commanded by the Grand Duke Michael.

The business men of Alaska are apprehensive of much trouble when the troops are removed. The Indians, they think, are only held in restraint by the presence of an armed force.

Attorney Tyler, of San Francisco, has been held to appear before the Grand Jury upon a charge of having stolen certain papers belonging to a libel suit in which he was of counsel.

On the 22nd inst Hiram Grebek and his wife, of New Germantown, N. J., celebrated the 75th year of their wedded life. They are aged 97 and 94 years, respectively.

Land Speculators are availing themselves of the provisions of the Desert Land Bill and locating vast sections of such lands in the Kern River Valley, California.

The relations of the Khedive of Egypt with the Car and his financial obligations to the Republic of France forbid his coming to the assistance of the Turks.

Only about 80 men are at work in Tuscarora district, and times are too dull there for the place to be attractive to workmen seeking employment.

A Frenchman, A. Verdier, has been killed in Oregon by being caught in the belting of a steam coffee mill and having one of his legs wrenched off.

The British navy yards are the scene of much activity. Her Majesty's naval armament is to be got ready for all possible emergencies.

Nicholls, the revolutionary Governor of Louisiana, has issued a call for a Thanksgiving Day. May 10 is the day selected.

Mr. C. F. Christensen, a New York business man, has been elected cashier of the Nevada Bank, San Francisco.

The Carson Valley News is of the opinion that the fruit in that part of the State has all been killed.

An absurd rumor prevails that General Grant has been offered command of the Turkish armies.

R. M. Daggett has been elected President of the Virginia Coal Company.

There is still a grain of comfort left. All is not lost, hard as times are. A Frenchman in New York has discovered that old abandoned tunnels are, of all places in the world, the best for raising mushrooms. The hint should not be lost. Nevada is honeycombed with old drifts which have ceased to be of profit. If the bears who caused their desertion would only hibernate therein, there would be some appearance of justice in this stockish world. But they will not. Let us dedicate them to the succulent fungus aforesaid.

THE TURKISH NAVY.—We are prepared to hear of some fierce fighting by the Turks on land, but they are better prepared for the sea than their ponderous antagonist. The Turkish naval force is now composed of two Imperial yachts, six iron clad frigates, nine iron clad corvettes, two iron clad monitors, four frigates, five iron clad gunboats, four ships-of-the-line, seven corvettes, fifteen coast guard vessels, five schooners, four cannon sloops, and fifty-three nondescript vessels—in all 116, with 780 guns and 16,038 men.

Here is a queer addition to the general museum of curiosities:

A curious scene was enacted at the Church of St. Bartholomew the Great in London on Good Friday. According to the provisions of an ancient will the rector proceeded to the churchyard and deposited twenty-one shillings on the grave of the testatrix as a donation to twenty-one widows, the conditions being that they were absolutely needy and not too stiff in their joints to stoop and pick up the money.

The Martin White Company at Ward, White Pine County, are in financial distress. They owe about $46,000 and their machinery, buildings, furnaces &c. have been attached. The Reflex expresses the opinion that all will be well.

THE LATEST FROM THE WAR.

A Vienna correspondent telegraphs that Prince Charles is preparing a manifesto declaring Roumania independent of Turkey. Roumania will be elevated into a kingdom, and will be under the protection of Russia.

London, April 29.—A Bucharest correspondent says the action of the Russian authorities in closing the navigation of the Danube certainly indicates an understanding with Austria.

St. Petersburg, April 29.—A dispatch to the Minister of War says that on the 27th inst., the Russian infantry reached Kurnk-dara, and the cavalry Subotin and Chadzeval. The strong position of Muchaster was occupied on the 26th. The loss by the bombardment of Fort St. Nichols was one killed. On the 27th inst. the Turkish monitors approached Pott, but went away without doing any damage.

Erzerum, April 28.—A Russian column is marching on Ardaghan. The Russian army is very strong in cavalry, and is accompanied by a heavy siege train.

Vienna, April 30.—Of the three Russian columns marching into Armenia, one has met with serious resistance a few miles from Bayazet, where there was extensive fighting yesterday. Persia has 20,000 men ready to join the Russians.

London, April 30.—It is officially announced that the British Government will send 50,000 men at a moment's notice to Egypt. Of this force 25,000 will go from England and 25,000 from India.

London, April 30.—Besides the eight gunboats which the Russians have brought down in sections and put together on the Danube or Pruth, a Russian fleet is at Nikalaief, and will come down to the mouth of the Danube to assist the Russian army in the passage of the river.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRES.

Montreal, Canada, April 29.—At 6 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in the Montreal Novelty Works building on St. Urban street. Owing to the immense amount of inflammable material stored on the premises all efforts to save the building was fruitless. The building was five stories high and the walls badly built. About 6 o'clock the walls fell outward with a terrible crash, breaking through the roof of a coffin store, completely demolishing a number of sheds and outhouses. Eight firemen, under Chief Patton, were playing upon the roof of the sheds and coffin store when the wall fell. They saw the wall begin to totter and made a rush for the shed. They had barely got in side, when they were completely buried under several feet of hot bricks.

After the wall fell the means of the firemen rent the air. A band of citizens went to work to dig the sufferers out. The firemen remained beneath the ruins about an hour before they were got out. Four were found beneath a board fence alive, but suffering terribly. Nine were taken out dead. Three of them were recognized as firemen. The bodies were terribly disfigured.

HOW A BLAINE MAN TALKS.—A correspondent of the Sun, speaking of his friend Blaine talks as follows:

He has a larger personal following than any man in American politics since the time of Henry Clay. He uttered the right words, at the right time, and in the right place. Pained and humiliated are we that his eloquence was not heeded. He would have carried the States of New York and Connecticut—as well as all those which we did carry—had he been nominated at Cincinnati. He was the man of all others to utter with authority the hopes, the fears, and the wishes of the party.

How differently stands the man addressed by him. What a striking contrast he presents in every manly trait. Mr. Hayes's friends have found it necessary to explain, to apologize, to excuse, to defend with tiresome reiteration every step in his frothy, evanescent, unsubstantial Southern dreamings—which, for want of a better name, they have termed a policy. Bah! You might as well attempt to appease an enraged bull with a pan of skimmed milk as to attempt the reconciliation of the South with this policy. These Ohio mariners live too far from the coast. They do not understand navigation. Avoiding the Scylla of Democratic wrath, they are wrecked on the Charybdis of Republican contempt. Without a chart, on a shoreless sea, provisions gone, water casks empty, the crew drunk and the captain crazy, they think it a proper time to form a new party.

It is needless to discuss such a proposition. The old Republican ship has ridden out many a storm, and is good yet for several such blows as she encountered in 1872. Mr. Blaine for Captain, Mr. Morton for pilot, Mr. Conkling for supercargo, one hundred and fifty Senators and members of Congress for crew, with the motto "No Surrender" at the masthead, she will proudly fulfill her mission.

PARSON BROWNLOW DEAD.—We learn from the Virginia City Chronicle of last Evening that Parson Brownlow of Tennessee is dead. He died yesterday morning. Brownlow was born in 1805 in Virginia. He led a stormy life—was a poor boy, a carpenter's apprentice, a methodist minister, a newspaper editor, a politician, a Unionist among rebels, a Whig candidate for Congress against Andrew Jackson, the Governor of Tennessee, and a Senator in Congress. In his day he was as notable for the bitterness of his invective as any living talker or writer.

The Elko Independent of Saturday has the following account of an insane man:

The insane man, Wm. Iwan, who suddenly disappeared from Tuscarora Sunday, an account of which we published Tuesday, was found by Jack Gaston, driver of the Cornucopia stage, on Thursday, and brought back to Tuscarora by Thomas Atwell. The poor fellow was in a most pitiable condition when found, being exposed to the rough weather almost naked, he having divested himself of, and thrown away most of his clothing, hat and boots. He is now lying very low with typhoid fever, and his recovery is considered very doubtful.

Theodore Tilton has betaken himself to San Francisco. He will find the foggy night air inconveniently cool for excursions in his night shirt.

Mrs. Gimlet, of Deal, England, lately hanged herself because she found life a bore.
